The Free State Foundation's Lunch Seminar

"Ideas for Communications Law and Policy Reform in 2013"

WHERE: National Press Club, Washington, DC

WHEN: Thursday, October 18, 2012, 11:45 a.m. - 2:30 p.m.

On Thursday, October 18, the Free State Foundation will hold a lunch seminar to address ideas for reforming communications law and policy during the coming year. The ideas discussed will include both those that involve revising the Communications Act and, in the meantime, proposals for reform of communications policy by the Federal Communications Commission.

The program will begin with a conversation between FCC Commissioner Robert McDowell and FSF President Randolph May.

Their conversation will be followed by a thought-provoking, free-wheeling panel discussion by some of the nation's leading think tankers, each of whom has studied communications law and policy for many years:

Robert Atkinson, Information Technology and Innovation Foundation

James Gattuso, Heritage Foundation

David Honig, Minority Media & Telecommunications Council

Adam Thierer, Mercatus Center
