

THE FREE STATE FOUNDATION

A Free Market Think Tank for Maryland.....Because Ideas Matter

FSF POSITIONS AVAILABLE

Senior Economic Policy Analyst: The Free State Foundation, a growing non-profit, non-partisan free market-oriented think tank with an emphasis on communications and Internet policy, is seeking to hire an economist with experience regarding regulated industries. Some expertise regarding communications and Internet policy is a definite plus. The ability to analyze market structure and competition in dynamic markets characterized by rapid technological advances as well as to perform cost-benefit analysis of regulatory proposals is required. Excellent writing skills and the ability to write lucidly from a free market perspective for policy audiences is a must. Applicants must possess a doctorate in economics or a related field, or a Master's degree with at least 4 years experience. Flexible working arrangements, including the option for part-time and off-site work, are possible. FSF offers competitive compensation.

Interns: The Free State Foundation has openings for a few part-time internships. Candidates presently may be pursuing either an undergraduate or advanced degree. Candidates should have an academic interest in public policy or law and strong research and writing skills. Experience relating to communications and Internet law and policy and regulatory affairs more generally is helpful but not required.

Applications: If interested in applying for a position, please submit a statement of interest, resume, and writing sample by email to kbaker@freestatefoundation.org or by mail to:
